

Advanced Transportation Optimization and Management (ATOM)

Optimize transportation operations, reduce costs and improve carrier control as an ongoing process.

enVista's holistic approach to customers' transportation success delivers increased savings, operational flexibility, resilience, transparency and optimized results.

Transportation costs continue to rise in today's turbulent supply chain environment due to economic rebound and overall higher demand amid evolving consumer buying habits. With less-than-truckload (LTL) and parcel freight becoming more costly than ever, businesses need to protect themselves in a volatile marketplace by reducing transportation risk and waste.

As the supply chain landscape evolves around us, small to mid-sized shippers often benefit from a transportation outsourcing model that leverages a single transportation partner as an extension of their team. As a truly integrated transportation partner focused on its customers' success, enVista brings exceptional expertise, along with best-in-class technology and a vested partnership approach to augment the shipper's expertise and capabilities and drive continuous improvement. This holistic approach results in increased savings, operational flexibility, resilience, transparency and optimized results.

ATOM

Advanced Transportation Optimization & Management

Drive Efficiency, Enhance Operational Flexibility and Improve Your Bottom Line

enVista's Advanced Transportation Optimization and Management (ATOM) managed transportation offering blends all of the solutions shippers need to operate a world-class, optimized global transportation operation for competitive advantage. The solution leverages exceptional transportation expertise and software to provide shippers critical cost savings, the optimal carrier mix, improved carrier compliance and customer service levels, and provides robust, real-time transportation analytics and intelligence to improve business insights and decision-making.

Additional benefits of enVista's ATOM solution include:

- Streamline freight payables processing to hold your cash longer
- Augment internal expertise and capabilities
- Benefit from continuous process improvement and remain proactive in today's evolving economic environment and transportation market
- Improve carrier compliance and control and efficiencies
- Leverage advanced analytics for improved decision-making
- Improve customer service and the ability to compete and deliver in the market
- Proprietary, all-modes transportation rating engine to ensure optimal rates and fulfillment timeframes
- enVista's Shipment Experience Management track and trace and label application helps automatically communicate delivery updates as soon as the order is processed
- enVista's global Freight Audit and Payment solution includes custom dashboards, client specific KPIs and reporting to drive real time decision-making
- enVista's subscription model enables shippers to obtain an end-to-end transportation solution (expertise, technology and infrastructure) without a significant capital outlay to preserve cash and accelerate transportation as a competitive differentiator

A Strategic, End-to-End Managed Services Partner

With more than 20 years of end-to-end transportation optimization and spend management expertise, enVista processes more than $7B of freight invoices across thousands of carriers already set up in its network. Our broad range of expertise and experience across technologies, processes and strategies enables a holistic view of overall supply chain operations. By providing a unique 360-degree perspective and personal experience as operators first, we ensure the alignment of your purchasing and sourcing strategy with inventory and your supply chain network, better utilization of your inventory and supply chain and improved benefits in negotiations with vendors. enVista's consultants, carrier contract negotiators and freight invoice audit and payment experts act as an extension of your business by taking a pragmatic approach in identifying and implementing a customized solution that best addresses your needs.

Consulting and solutions delivery is in our DNA.

Let's have a conversation.™

info@envistacorp.com | 877-684-7700 | envistacorp.com

